Success in education
isn't everything.

It's the only thing.

Introducing...a NEW approach to your child's school success.

We call it individual support and instruction.

All students deserve the best possible education, especially when the traditional school approach may not be appropriate for them. Or if they're highly motivated and do better when studying independently. Or when they thrive on personalized, one-on-one instruction. At our three Pivot Charter Schools locations, that's exactly what they receive.

Today's young people absorb and master information in remarkable new ways. So we combine appealing interactive online-based course with small tutoring groups and one-on-one instructor interaction to assure each student's academic motivation and success. At Pivot, advising teachers develop courses and schedules that best fit your student's goals and individual learning abilities. And you stay in touch with all progress through our college readiness program.

And, since Pivot is a Charter school, your student can attend at no cost to you.
